I. General Information

A. Mission Statement of the Department of Human Services
The mission of the IPFW Department of Human Services is to provide an excellent education that will develop future leaders in their communities and the human services profession. The department promotes diversity, professionalism and service with a commitment to positive change for all individuals.

B. Program Learning Goals
Students who complete the bachelor’s degree curriculum will be able to:
1. apply concepts and principles from human services courses to work settings.
2. implement practice theories and design treatment plans utilizing the appropriate theory.
3. demonstrate competency, by analyzing human services helping skills.
4. understand the structure and function of human services organizations.
5. use a variety of computer programs necessary in human services organizations.
6. demonstrate competency in two concentration areas and a minor related to human services.
7. engage in a service learning project in the community.
8. understand people from a diverse range of backgrounds and varying demographics characteristics.
9. understand methods, analyses, and interpretation for human services’ research.
10. think critically using a clinical lens when working with clients.
11. analyze their own values, predicting how these values will affect their academic and professional experiences.
12. apply professional ethics and standards in human service settings.
13. involve themselves in professional organizations and activities and lifelong learning.

Mission Statement of the College of Health and Human Services

The mission of Health and Human Services is to provide the highest quality education to future and current healthcare and hospitality practitioners by providing a learning environment that supports the development of culturally competent caring, compassionate, and accountable professionals. Our undergraduate and graduate programs prepare graduates who are dedicated to the autonomy, dignity, and diversity of the people they serve.

The College is committed to excellence in teaching service and scholarship and to the elimination of health disparities in our community. Our graduates will value life-long learning and have a professional work ethic based on professional standards and the best practices. The College of Health and Human Services specifically identifies and addresses the ever changing health and hospitality needs of the community served by Indiana University-Purdue University Fort Wayne (IPFW) through service, leadership and the development of knowledge.

C. Internship/Clinical Philosophy
Supervised experience in a human services delivery setting is essential to the integration of the student's knowledge, skills, and attitudes, and an integral part of the total educational process. Therefore, internship and clinical courses are designed and sequenced to enhance the student's development as a human service professional. Internship and clinical courses are intended to be congruent with the content of their corresponding lecture courses and to provide opportunities for practice of learned skills. Regular evaluation of student’s internship and clinical performance assists students in identifying their strengths as well as areas needing improvement and facilitates their personal and professional development. National standards approved by the Council for Standards in Human Service Education (CSHSE) will serve as a guide to the faculty in the design and revision of all internship courses. (See Appendix A for a glossary of terms and Appendix B for CSHSE standards).

MANDATORY MEETING for Students who will be taking Clinicals or Internships

All students are required to attend a meeting in February prior to signing up for a sophomore clinical or senior internship the following fall. A list-serve announcement will be sent out several weeks before the meeting times. If you are late or you miss this meeting you will not be eligible to begin your clinical/internship in the Fall. Exceptions will be made by the Chair and Clinical Director only. Documentation stating the tardiness or absence was out of your control will be necessary for an exception to be considered.

II. Internship and Clinical Policies

A. Seminar Hour and On-Site Hour Requirements for the Internship and Clinical

The field clinical and internship placements (hereafter referred to as "internship") component of the bachelor’s degree program consists of the four courses below and includes classroom orientation/preparation, biweekly seminars, and a total of 360 clock hours in community agencies. The seminar and internship are completed during the fall and spring semesters only. Courses hours and on-site hour requirements are as follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Internship Course</th>
<th>Seminar Hours</th>
<th>On-Site Hours</th>

Travel to and from internship sites and meal time breaks on-site are NOT counted towards hour requirements.

B. Course Sequencing, Prerequisites, Co-requisites

Internship courses must be taken in sequence and with the corresponding core seminar course (see required co-requisites). Students must earn a “C-“ or higher in an internship course to receive credit toward their bachelor’s degree and progress through the program. Students may not take more than one internship course at a time. Students who have an "Incomplete" in the first internship course and/or seminar must complete their course requirements before beginning the second internship and corresponding seminar. All prerequisites must be met prior to signing up for an internship or clinical.

See Appendix C for complete program requirements.

Part-time students must consult an advisor to develop a plan of study that ensures that internship courses are taken in sequence.

C. College of Health and Human Services Progression Policy

Professional, mature conduct is expected of all students. Any form of academic or personal misconduct is in direct conflict with professionalism and will result in dismissal from the program in which the student is enrolled. Please refer to the current IPFW Bulletin regarding “Code of Student Rights, Responsibilities, and Conduct.”
The College of Health and Human Services chooses the most stringent course of action regarding misconduct. A student dismissed from his or her program will also be dismissed from the College of Health and Human Services.

Following University guidelines, after a specified time, a student who has been expelled from IPFW may petition for readmission to the University, program, and College. This does not assure the student will gain readmission.

D. Indiana University-Purdue University Fort Wayne
College of Health and Human Services Professional Misconduct

Students may be failed in a HSRV course and/or dismissed from the IPFW HSRV Department for unprofessional conduct that jeopardizes the health and/or safety of patients/clients and/or others or has a potentially detrimental effect on the HSRV Department. Due to the serious consequences of certain unprofessional behaviors, procedures for dismissals from the program may be initiated. If the student is in a clinical setting at the time that professional misconduct occurs, the person will be immediately removed from the site. The student will be suspended from all clinical settings, pending the outcome of the disciplinary process. Students are held to the standards of the NOHS and as such, they are liable for their own actions. Behaviors of professional misconduct occurring at any time while the person is a student in the HSRV program may result in disciplinary action including, but not limited to:

- Client abandonment and/or neglect
- Commission of fraudulent acts/documentation
- Breach of Confidentiality
- Theft of property from a clinical agency, clients, others, or IPFW
- Disorderly conduct
- Verbal abuse that involves an expressed or implied threat to a client, staff, or faculty’s safety
- Physical abuse of any person
- Possession of a weapon
- Failure to report conviction of criminal activity
- Failed drug screen and/or possession of drugs or controlled substances
- Failed drug screen and/or possession of alcohol while at a clinical agency
- Admitting the current use of illegal drugs
- Failure to report an arrest with felony charges or a felony conviction
- Any behavior that constitutes misconduct as defined by the IPFW Student Handbook and Planner and/or the IPFW Undergraduate Bulletin
- A personal relationship with a client
- A romantic or physical relationship with a client
- A legal charge due to violence or child abuse/
  *During a legal investigation based on violence or abuse, the student will be immediately suspended from their clinical/internship site. If the student is found guilty, he or she will be dismissed from the HSRV program.

The Human Services Department follows the processes outlined in the College of Health and Human Services (CHH) Policy on Professional Misconduct and the IPFW Student Disciplinary Procedures. The CHH Policy on Professional Misconduct may be obtained from the office of the Dean. The IPFW Student Disciplinary Procedures is found in the IPFW Student Handbook and Planner and/or the IPFW Undergraduate Bulletin.
E. Professional Behaviors

The human services field insists that its workers be responsible, accountable, self-directed and professional in behavior.

The process of becoming a professional begins when you enter the Human Services program. Students demonstrate professionalism by attending and being punctual for classes and clinical experiences, by exhibiting courteous behavior, and by being prepared for class/clinical assignments.

HSRV students should always strive to establish a caring relationship with clients. This professional relationship is based on a trust that must not be violated. Failing to be prepared for clinical/internship is a violation of this trust.

F. Insurance

Malpractice Insurance
Purchase of professional malpractice/liability insurance through the IPFW bursar is required for all human services students before they may begin working at their internship site. Insurance is effective from date of purchase until the next May 31st. Students who do not have valid liability insurance may not begin their internship and may be administratively dropped from the course if they do not have insurance by the second week of the semester. Insurance is automatically calculated into student fees for the internship courses.

* IMPORTANT NOTE:*
The Department of Human Service’s group policy insurance does not cover accidental injury to a student that may occur before, during, or after classes or clinical/internship activities. Students are not covered by the University when they travel to and from clinical sites in private automobiles. The students also need to be aware that the malpractice insurance only provides coverage for liability while practicing as a student in The Department of Human Service’s activities with their designated clinical/internship agency.

Health Insurance
All students are required to carry their own health insurance. Costs associated with any incident on campus or at clinical sites shall remain the responsibility of the student.

G. Code of Conduct
Students are required to follow the IPFW Code of Student Rights, Responsibilities, and Conduct while at the internship site. This code is found in the IPFW Bulletin for Undergraduate Programs. Students are also required to abide by the College of Health and Human Services’ Policy on Student Personal Misconduct at the Internship Site (see Appendix D),

H. Code of Ethics
Students are required to follow the current "Ethical Standards of Human Service Professionals" adopted by the National Organization of Human Service Education (see Appendix D).

I. Confidentiality
Confidentiality is an especially important ethical standard in the human services setting. For this reason, students are required to sign the College of Health and Human Services' "Agreement to Maintain Client Confidentiality" prior to internship placement (see Appendix E). Students may not reveal the identity of clients or information about clients except to agency personnel who have a professional need for the information. Information must be presented in objective language. Hearsay, gossip, labeling, etc. are not appropriate. Students are responsible for ensuring that information is not overheard by parties who have no professional need for the information. Hallways, elevators, stairwells, cafeterias, restrooms, etc. are not appropriate places for exchange of confidential information. Care must be taken to secure confidential documents and computer files at all times. Students must disguise the identity of clients in any reports both at the site and in course seminars. In addition, confidentiality will be upheld regarding information learned about the internship site through the interviews and examination of documents required as course assignments. Any time students are unsure about what is appropriate exchange of information, they should consult with their on-site internship supervisor.

J. Zachary's Law
According to Zachary's Law (P.L. 11-1994): “A person employed, appointed, or under contract with a state agency, who works with or around children, shall be immediately dismissed if that person is, or has ever been, convicted of any of the following: rape, if the victim is less than 18 years of age; criminal deviate conduct, if the victim is less than 18 years of age; child molesting; child exploitation; vicarious sexual gratification; child solicitation; child seduction; or incest, if the victim is less than 18 years of age”.

K. Social Media & Technology
Social media includes: (but is not limited to) Facebook, LinkedIn, Wikipedia, Second Life, Flickr, blogs, podcasts, RSS feeds, Allnurses.com, Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, and Myspace. Social media often spans traditional boundaries between professional and personal relationships and thus takes additional vigilance to make sure that one is protecting personal, professional, and university reputations.

When publishing information on social media sites remain cognizant that information may be public for anyone to see and can be traced back to you as an individual. Since social media typically enables two-way communications with your audience, you have less control about how materials you post will be used by others. As one person remarked, “If you wouldn’t put it on a flier, carve it into cement in the quad or want it published on the front of the Wall Street Journal, don’t broadcast it via social media channels”.

Do not post confidential information about the university, staff, students, clinical facilities, or clients. Do not use IPFW marks, such as logos and graphics, on personal social media sites. Do not use IPFW’s name to promote a product, cause, or political party or candidate.

Cell phones must be on silent at agency sites. No personal phone conversations or texting are allowed at any time while in client areas or in the classroom. If the student needs to respond to an emergency text or phone call during class, the student is asked to leave the classroom and respond as deemed necessary.

Use of computers (PDAs, Notebooks, etc.) during class shall be restricted to note taking and classroom activities.

No student shall videotape professors or fellow students for personal or social media use without the express written permission of the faculty or fellow student. At NO time shall clients be videotaped or photographed without written permission of the client and of the facility.

Be aware of your association with IPFW in online social networks. If you identify yourself as a student, ensure your profile and related content is consistent with how you wish to present yourself to colleagues, clients, and potential employers. Identify your views as your own. When posting your point of view, you should neither claim nor imply you are speaking on IPFW’s behalf or your clinical/internship site’s behalf, unless you are authorized to do so in writing.

There is no such thing as a “private” social media site. Search engines can turn up posts years after the publication date. Comments can be forwarded or copied. Archival systems save information, including deleted postings. If you feel angry or passionate about a subject, it’s wise to delay posting until you are calm and clearheaded.

Think twice before posting. If you are unsure about posting something or responding to a comment, ask your advisor or a faculty member. If you are about to publish something that makes you even the slightest bit uncertain, review the suggestions in this policy and seek guidance.

Future employers hold you to a high standard of behavior. By identifying yourself as an IPFW student through postings and personal web pages, you are connected to your colleagues, clinical/internship agencies, and even clients. Ensure that content associated with you is consistent with your professional goals.

You are legally liable for what you post on your own site and on the sites of others. Individual bloggers have been held liable for commentary deemed to be proprietary, copyrighted, defamatory, libelous or obscene (as defined by the courts). Employers are increasingly conducting Web searches on job candidates before extending offers. Be sure that what you post today will not come back to haunt you.

Students who share confidential or unprofessional information do so at the risk of disciplinary action including failure in a course and/or dismissal from the program.

L. University Smoking Policy
Smoking is prohibited on the IPFW campus. Smoking is also not allowed during participation at clinical or internship sites.

M. TB TESTS AND BACKGROUND CHECK

TB/Mantoux (MUST BE THE TWO-STEP PROCESS)

Each student must submit proof of a completed 2-step TB by the last business day in June and the 2-step TB/Mantoux must be valid through the end of the Spring semester. A two-step includes: a test and a reading and then a second test and a second reading.

A student not submitting the required proof by the dates will be dropped from the clinical/internship course and any co-requisite course(s).

A student with a positive reaction to the TB skin test must have a chest x-ray to meet the deadlines of the last business day of June.

Allow three weeks for the completion of the 2-step TB testing process.

A student may opt to have a chest x-ray instead of the 2-step TB test.

BACKGROUND CHECK
The sites associated with our clinical/internship program require background checks on incoming students to insure the safety of the clients treated by students in the program.
You will be required to order your background check in sufficient time for it to be reviewed by the site prior to starting your clinical/internship placement. This can take from three to four weeks.

Before Starting the Background Check:

- A valid email is REQUIRED
- Have your credit card (Visa/MasterCard/American Express/Discover) information ready in order to process payment.

NOTE: You may incur additional fees dependent on your locations of residence. These fees will be disclosed to you if applicable.

Getting Started:

1. Log onto our website at www.VerifyStudents.com and click Start Here
2. Use this special promotional code: IPFWBG
3. Complete profile & e-sign forms as they appear
4. After completing the online application, you will be asked to provide payment for services
5. Following payment, you will receive payment confirmation on-screen as well as a separate payment receipt via email

NOTE: A unique login will be emailed to you. This will allow you to log back into www.VerifyStudents.com to manage your student background screening account and retrieve a copy of your report.

10 PANEL DRUG SCREEN

A 10 panel drug screen must be completed and the results provided with your application. Allow up to three weeks for these tests to be completed.

DRUG SCREENING SITES:

- Fort Wayne Central 3415 Hobson Road, Fort Wayne, IN 46805 (260) 373-9300 (260) 373-9301, fax

Completed application and forms MUST be turned into the Human Services office (Neff 130) by 5:00 p.m., the last business day of June. NO LATE ADMISSION PACKETS WILL BE ACCEPTED!
There will be a mandatory orientation all day on the second Friday of July for newly accepted students. (Those entering sophomore clinical) Attendance IS required! Failure to attend will result in the student being withdrawn from their clinical course for the upcoming academic year.

N. Assignment of Students to Internship Sites
The Department of Human Services faculty will secure a list of approved clinical and internship sites that provide training and supervision commensurate to the focus, goals, and requirements of the course.

The instructor will seek input from the student regarding his/her experience, and past internship assignments, and assign the student to a particular internship site. Students will not be placed at a site where they have previously completed a practicum or where they work. Once the student begins working at the internship site, he/she is expected to continue at the same site until course requirements are completed. Students will not be reassigned to a different internship site unless departmental guidelines (as described below) are followed.

O. Students who are Clients of an Agency
Because of a possible conflict of interest, students who are currently clients, who have been clients, or whose close family members are clients of an agency are discouraged from seeking or accepting an internship with that agency.

P. Acceptance by the Internship Site
Internship sites are independent agencies/facilities, and sites supervisors are volunteers who are not remunerated by the university. It is the prerogative of the internship site staff to determine if they will accept or retain any student for an internship placement. At the beginning of the semester, site supervisors will interview students from IPFW and inform the IPFW faculty of their willingness to accept a student. Internship placements are not guaranteed. Students who are unable to find internship placements (after three refusals) will be unable to meet all course and/or graduation requirements, and, thus, will not be able to complete the requirements for the Human Services degree.

The student should be aware that some internship sites have an application, training, or screening process and requirements for acceptance. For example, some sites will require the student to have an additional criminal check. Other sites may require a physical exam.

Q. Contracts between the Internship Site and IPFW
Contracts between the internship site and IPFW are established prior to the commencement of the student’s hours at the internship site. The department of Human Services faculty is responsible for generating contracts. The department Chair, the Dean of Health Sciences, and the Health Sciences Business Manager must sign the contract after the site has signed the contract. A signed copy will be sent to the agency and a copy will be kept in the office.

R. Resume and Cover Letter
Students will provide an updated resume and cover letter to their internship site supervisor at the initial interview. Assistance with resume and cover letter writing is available for students in Career Services, www.ipfw.edu/career, (260) 481-0689.
S. Attendance/Scheduling
Once a student is accepted by the internship site, it is the student's responsibility to determine a schedule that matches the agency's needs, is acceptable to the internship site supervisor, and allows for completion of course requirements by the end of the semester. Students are expected to report to the site at their scheduled times, except in the event of illness or an emergency, and, in such case, must notify the site supervisor in advance of the absence (or as soon as reasonably possible). Failure to do so may result in termination from the site, a failing grade in the course, and possible dismissal from the Human Services degree program. Students are required to continue to report to their internship sites during the assigned period. More than one absence may result in termination from the site and a failing grade in the course. Students must follow the agency’s policy on attendance. Failure to do so will result in failure of the course. Students must document their attendance using the department’s attendance form (on Blackboard). This form must be returned to the course faculty instructor by a specified date to validate that all internship hours are completed. Failure to provide documentation of internship hours by the due date and time may result in failure of the internship course.

T. Termination by the Internship Site
If a student is terminated by the internship site before completion of the course requirements, the student must immediately report the situation to the course faculty and provide an explanation for the termination. If the student has been terminated due to unprofessional behavior or failure to perform to a minimal standard, the student may receive a failing grade in the internship course and may be dismissed from the program.

U. Site Visits by IPFW Faculty
Sites will be visited by the Department of Human Services faculty during the Fall semester. The student, instructor, or a site supervisor may request an additional meeting. The purpose of the visit is to determine if the student is meeting minimal course requirements for the internship. Site visits may be conducted by any internship or clinical faculty employed by IPFW’s Human Services Department. Contact is made with all sites during the Spring semester via phone call or visit.

V. Evaluation
Students will be evaluated by their internship supervisors throughout the semester with formal evaluations. This process is crucial to the student's professional growth. The supervisor's feedback is intended to facilitate self-awareness by identifying the student's strengths and suggesting areas for improvement. Students are encouraged to discuss their evaluations with their supervisors and to use the information to improve their performance for the final evaluation and future employment. Evaluations will become a permanent part of the student’s file.

W. Students will complete a verification of National Standards Sheet for their internships.

X. Grading
Students in internship courses will receive a grade based on course assignments, attendance/participation, and evaluations from internship site supervisors. Final grading is the responsibility of the Department of Human Services faculty.
Y. Procedures for Dismissal from Internship and the Human Services Program

Reasons for Immediate Dismissal from the Internship for Violating the College of Health and Human Services Professional Code:

1. Violating the NOHS Code of Ethical Conduct in relation to the placement site.
2. Violating the site’s workplace policies (includes anything for which an employee would be dismissed).
3. Failing to make changes in behavior at the internship site when procedures below are followed.
4. Unexcused absence from the internship site. (Not calling before the scheduled time OR repeated absences even if reported.

Procedure for Resolving Concerns with Students by Internship Site

Concerns

There are concerns that would be cause for immediate dismissal at any workplace, and those concerns also apply to the intern. Concerns, if not deemed as cause for immediate dismissal, will be addressed in the following way. The first time a concern is noted by the agency supervisor, he/she will meet with the student, address the concern, and ask for a change in behavior. Written documentation will be provided to both the student and the faculty supervisor. The faculty supervisor will also meet with the student and document the meeting. A written warning will be given by the faculty supervisor stating if the behavior is repeated, dismissal from the internship site will occur, and may result in a failing grade. Documentation will be placed in the student’s file.

If a concern arises a second time, the agency supervisor will address the concern with the student again and, if the agency supervisor deems necessary dismissal from the site may occur at this step. If the agency supervisor chooses not to dismiss the student at this point then they may give a warning that dismissal could occur if behavior continues. The concern will be outlined in writing with the warning included. A copy will be provided to both the student and the faculty supervisor. The faculty supervisor will meet conjointly with the student and agency supervisor and discuss the concern.

3. Dismissal of Student Intern

After all previous procedures have been met, the agency may dismiss the student from the site. The faculty supervisor will follow procedures for program dismissal (see section below).

Consequences of Dismissal from Internship

Students who are dismissed from their internship site when the procedures below are implemented are subject to dismissal from the Human Services bachelor’s degree. Steps to be taken toward program dismissal also appear below.

Dismissal from the Human Services Program

Reasons for Immediate Dismissal from the Internship for Violating the College of Health and Human Services Professional Code:

1. Violating the NOHS Code of Ethical Conduct in relation to the placement site.
2. Violating the site’s workplace policies (includes anything for which an agency would dismiss an employee).
3. Failing to make changes in behavior at the internship site when procedures below are followed.
4. Unexcused absence from the internship site. (Not calling before the scheduled time OR repeated absences even if reported)
Resolving Concerns of Student

Concerns with Site Supervisor
If a student reveals a concern about a site supervisor such as the site supervisor being unavailable; not being given enough work to do, or problems accomplishing assignments directed by the faculty supervisor, etc., the faculty supervisor will discuss the concern with the student. The faculty supervisor will discuss with the student whether or not the concern is one that should be addressed by the student or by the faculty supervisor. If the concern falls into the former category, the faculty supervisor will provide strategies for resolving the concern and ask the student to speak with the site supervisor.

If the concern falls into the latter category, the faculty supervisor will address the concern with the site supervisor. If the concern about the site supervisor is deemed serious and cannot be resolved, the faculty will mediate with the site to find another supervisor or assist the student in securing a new site without penalty to the student.

Students may not automatically drop out of their internship experience unless they are dropping the internship course.

If a student approaches a faculty supervisor about dropping out, the following steps will be taken: 1) the student and faculty supervisor will thoroughly discuss the situation with the faculty supervisor providing support and ideas to create change; 2) the student will develop a plan of action for making change and present it in writing to the faculty supervisor; 3) the student will implement the plan for two weeks; 4) the student and faculty supervisor will meet at the end of the two weeks and evaluate the situation again; 5) if the experience is still unsatisfactory to the student, the faculty supervisor uses discretion regarding a new placement or suggest further action.

Z. Grade Appeal Process
The process for appealing a grade in any course is in the "IPFW Code of Students Rights, Responsibilities, and Conduct." Please refer to http://www.ipfw.edu/hhs/resources/appeal.shtml

TECHNICAL STANDARDS WITH DISABILITY STATEMENT

College of Health and Human Services

Technical Standards for Admission and Retention of Students

The College of Health and Human Services professional program faculty has specified the following non-academic criteria (technical standards) that all applicants/students are expected to meet. These standards include the following five categories and may vary by degree program.

1. Observation: The applicant/student must be able to participate actively in all demonstrations, laboratory exercises, and clinical experiences, in the professional program component of the degree and to assess and comprehend the condition of all persons assigned to him or her for examination, diagnosis and treatment. Such observation and information usually requires the functional use of visual, auditory, and somatic sensations.

2. Communication: The applicant/student must be able to communicate effectively and sensitively with persons in order to elicit information, describe changes in mood, activity and posture, assess non-verbal communications, and be able to effectively and efficiently receive from and transmit information to persons, fellow students, faculty and staff, and all members of the health care team. Communication skills include listening, speaking, reading and writing, as well as the observation skills described above.

3. Motor: The applicant/student must have sufficient motor function to elicit information from persons by appropriate diagnostic or therapeutic maneuvers; be able to perform basic tests; possess all skill necessary to carry out diagnostic or therapeutic procedures; be able to interpret appropriate examinations and procedures, and be able to execute motor movements reasonably required to provide general care and emergency treatment to person.

4. Intellectual/Conceptual, Integrative, and Quantitative Abilities: the applicant/student must be able to measure, calculate, reason, analyze, evaluate, and synthesize. Problem solving, the critical skill demanded of allied health practitioners, requires all of these intellectual abilities. In addition, the applicant/student must be able to comprehend three-dimensional relationships and understand the spatial relationships of structures. The applicant/student must have the capacity to perform these problem solving skills in a timely fashion.

5. Behavioral and Social Attributes: The applicant/student must possess the emotional health required for full utilization of his or her intellectual abilities; the exercise of good judgment; the prompt completion of all responsibilities attendants to care of persons; and the development of mature, sensitive and effective relationships with persons and others. Applicants must be able to tolerate taxing workloads, function effectively under stress, adapt to changing environments, display flexibility, and learn to function in the face of uncertainties inherent in clinical problems of many persons. Compassion, integrity, concern for others, commitment and motivation are personal qualities which each applicant/student should possess.

DISABILITIES STATEMENT: If you have a disability and need assistance, special arrangements can be made to accommodate most needs. Contact the Director of Service for Students with Disabilities (Walb, room 113, telephone number 481-6658), as soon as possible to work out the details. For more information, please visit the website for SSD at http://www.ipfw.edu/ssd/.
Ethical Standards

Ethical Standards for Human Service Professionals
National Organization for Human Services Adopted 2015

Preamble
Human services is a profession developed in response to the direction of human needs and human problems in the 1960's. Characterized by an appreciation of human beings in all of their diversity, human services offers assistance to its clients within the context of their communities and environments. Human service professionals and those who educate them promote and encourage the unique values and characteristics of human services. In so doing, human service professionals uphold the integrity and ethics of the profession, promote client and community well-being, and enhance their own professional growth.

The fundamental values of the human services profession include respecting the dignity and welfare of all people; promoting self-determination; honoring cultural diversity; advocating for social justice; and acting with integrity, honesty, genuineness and objectivity.

Human service professionals consider these standards in ethical and professional decision making. Conflicts may exist between this code and laws, workplace policies, cultural practices, credentialing boards, and personal beliefs. Ethical decision making processes should be employed to assure careful choices. Although ethical codes are not legal documents, they may be used to address issues related to the behavior of human service professionals.

Persons who use this code include members of the National Organization for Human Services, students in relevant academic degree programs, faculty in those same programs, researchers, administrators, and professionals in community agencies who identify with the profession of human services. The ethical standards are organized in sections around those persons to whom ethical practice should be applied.

Responsibility to Clients
STANDARD 1 Human service professionals recognize and build on client and community strengths.

STANDARD 2 Human service professionals obtain informed consent to provide services to clients at the beginning of the helping relationship. Clients should be informed that they may withdraw consent at any time except where denied by court order and should be able to ask questions before agreeing to the services. Clients who are unable to give consent should have those who are legally able to give consent for them review an informed consent statement and provide appropriate consent.

STANDARD 3 Human service professionals protect the client's right to privacy and confidentiality except when such confidentiality would cause serious harm to the client or others, when agency guidelines state otherwise, or under other stated conditions (e.g., local, state, or federal laws). Human service professionals inform clients of the limits of confidentiality prior to the onset of the helping relationship.
STANDARD 4 If it is suspected that danger or harm may occur to the client or to others as a result of a client's behavior, the human service professional acts in an appropriate and professional manner to protect the safety of those individuals. This may involve, but is not limited to, seeking consultation, supervision, and/or breaking the confidentiality of the relationship.

STANDARD 5 Human service professionals recognize that multiple relationships may increase the risk of harm to or exploitation of clients and may impair their professional judgment. When it is not feasible to avoid dual or multiple relationships, human service professionals should consider whether the professional relationship should avoided or curtailed.

STANDARD 6 Sexual or romantic relationships with current clients are prohibited. Before engaging in sexual or romantic relationships with former clients, friends, or family members of former clients, human service professionals carefully evaluate potential exploitation or harm and refrain from entering into such a relationship.

STANDARD 7 Human service professionals ensure that their values or biases are not imposed upon their clients.

STANDARD 8 Human service professionals protect the integrity, safety, and security of client records. Client information in written or electronic form that is shared with other professionals must have the client's prior written consent except in the course of professional supervision or when legally obliged or permitted to share such information.

STANDARD 9 When providing services through the use of technology, human service professionals take precautions to ensure and maintain confidentiality and comply with all relevant laws and requirements regarding storing, transmitting, and retrieving data. In addition, human service professionals ensure that clients are aware of any issues and concerns related to confidentiality, service issues, and how technology might negatively or positively impact the helping relationship.

Responsibility to the Public and Society

STANDARD 10 Human service professionals provide services without discrimination or preference in regards to age, ethnicity, culture, race, ability, gender, language preference, religion, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, nationality, or other historically oppressed groups.

STANDARD 11 Human service professionals are knowledgeable about their cultures and communities within which they practice. They are aware of multiculturalism in society and its impact on the community as well as individuals within the community. They respect the cultures and beliefs of individuals and groups.

STANDARD 12 Human service professionals are aware of local, state, and federal laws. They advocate for change in regulations and statutes when such legislation conflicts with ethical guidelines and/or client rights. Where laws are harmful to individuals, groups, or communities, human service professionals consider the conflict between the values of obeying the law and the values of serving people and may decide to initiate social action.

STANDARD 13 Human service professionals stay informed about current social issues as they affect clients and communities. If appropriate to the helping relationship, they share this information with clients, groups and communities as part of their work.
STANDARD 14 Human service professionals are aware of social and political issues that differentially affect clients from diverse backgrounds.

STANDARD 15 Human service professionals provide a mechanism for identifying client needs and assets, calling attention to these needs and assets, and assisting in planning and mobilizing to advocate for those needs at the individual, community, and societal level when appropriate to the goals of the relationship.

STANDARD 16 Human service professionals advocate for social justice and seek to eliminate oppression. They raise awareness of underserved population in their communities and with the legislative system.

STANDARD 17 Human service professionals accurately represent their qualifications to the public. This includes, but is not limited to, their abilities, training, education, credentials, academic endeavors, and areas of expertise. They avoid the appearance of misrepresentation or impropriety and take immediate steps to correct it if it occurs.

STANDARD 18 Human service professionals describe the effectiveness of treatment programs, interventions and treatments, and/or techniques accurately, supported by data whenever possible.

Responsibility to Colleagues

STANDARD 19 Human service professionals avoid duplicating another professional’s helping relationship with a client. They consult with other professionals who are assisting the client in a different type of relationship when it is in the best interest of the client to do so. In addition, human services professionals seek ways to actively collaborate and coordinate with other professionals when appropriate.

STANDARD 20 When human service professionals have a conflict with a colleague, they first seek out the colleague in an attempt to manage the problem. If this effort fails, the professional then seeks the assistance of supervisors, consultants, or other professionals in efforts to address the conflict.

STANDARD 21 Human service professionals respond appropriately to unethical and problematic behavior of colleagues. Usually this means initially talking directly with the colleague and if no satisfactory resolution is achieved, reporting the colleague’s behavior to supervisory or administrative staff.

STANDARD 22 All consultations between human service professionals are kept private, unless to do so would result in harm to clients or communities.

Responsibility to Employers

STANDARD 23 To the extent possible, human service professionals adhere to commitments made to their employers.

STANDARD 24 Human service professionals participate in efforts to establish and maintain employment conditions which are conducive to high quality client services. Whenever possible, they assist in evaluating the effectiveness of the agency through reliable and valid assessment measures.

STANDARD 25 When a conflict arises between fulfilling the responsibility to the employer and the responsibility to the client, human service professionals work with all involved to manage the conflict.
Responsibility to the Profession
STANDARD 26 Human service professionals seek the training, experience, education and supervision necessary to ensure their effectiveness in working with culturally diverse individuals based on age, ethnicity, culture, race, ability, gender, language preference, religion, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, nationality, or other historically oppressive groups. In addition, they will strive to increase their competence in methods which are known to be the best fit for the population(s) with whom they work.

STANDARD 27 Human service professionals know the limit and scope of their professional knowledge and offer services only within their knowledge, skill base, and scope of practice.

STANDARD 28 Human service professionals seek appropriate consultation and supervision to assist in decision-making when there are legal, ethical or other dilemmas.

STANDARD 29 Human service professionals promote cooperation among related disciplines to foster professional growth and to optimize the impact of inter-professional collaboration on clients at all levels.

STANDARD 30 Human service professionals promote the continuing development of their profession. They encourage membership in professional associations, support research endeavors, foster educational advancement, advocate for appropriate legislative actions, and participate in other related professional activities.

STANDARD 31 Human service professionals continually seek out new and effective approaches to enhance their professional abilities and use techniques that are conceptually or evidence based. When practicing techniques that are experimental or new, they inform clients of the status of such techniques as well as the possible risks.

STANDARD 32 Human service professionals conduct research that adheres to all ethical principles, institutional standards, and scientific rigor. Such research takes into consideration cross-cultural bias and is reported in a manner that addressed any limitations.

STANDARD 33 Human service professionals make careful decisions about disclosing personal information while using social media, knowing that they reflect the profession of human services. In addition, they consider how their public conduct may reflect on themselves and their profession.

Responsibility to Self
STANDARD 34 Human service professionals are aware of their own cultural backgrounds, beliefs, values, and biases. They recognize the potential impact of their backgrounds on their relationships with others and work diligently to provide culturally competent service to all of their clients.

STANDARD 35 Human service professionals strive to develop and maintain healthy personal growth to ensure that they are capable of giving optimal services to clients. When they find that they are physically, emotionally, psychologically, or otherwise not able to offer such services, they identify alternative services for clients.

STANDARD 36 Human service professionals hold a commitment to lifelong learning and continually advance their knowledge and skills to serve clients more effectively.
Responsibility to Students

STANDARD 37 Human service educators develop and implement culturally sensitive knowledge, awareness, and teaching methodologies.

STANDARD 38 Human service educators are committed to the principles of access and inclusion and take all available and applicable steps to make education available to differently-abled students.

STANDARD 39 Human service educators demonstrate high standards of scholarship in their scholarship, pedagogy, and professional service and stay current in the field by being members of their professional associations, attending workshops and conferences, and reviewing and/or conducting research.

STANDARD 40 Human service educators recognize and acknowledge the contributions of students to the work of the educator in such activities as case material, grants, workshops, research, publications, and other related activities.

STANDARD 41 Human service educators monitor students' field experiences to ensure the quality of the placement site, supervisory experience, and learning experience towards the goals of personal, professional, academic, career, and civic development. When students experience potentially harmful events during field placements, educators provide reasonable investigation and response as necessary to safeguard the student.

STANDARD 42 Human service educators establish and uphold appropriate guidelines concerning student disclosure of sensitive/personal information which includes letting students have fair warning of any self-disclosure activities, allowing students to opt-out of in-depth self-disclosure activities when feasible, and ensuring that a mechanism is available to discuss and process such activities as needed.

STANDARD 43 Human service educators are aware that in their relationships with students, power and status are unequal. Human service educators are responsible to clearly define and maintain ethical and professional relationships with student; avoid conduct that is demeaning, embarrassing or exploitative of students; and always strive to treat students fairly, equally and without discrimination.

STANDARD 44 Human service educators ensure students are familiar with, informed by, and accountable to the ethical standards and policies put forth by their program/department, the course syllabus/instructor, their advisor(s), and the Ethical Standards of Human Service Professionals.
AGREEMENT TO MAINTAIN CLIENT CONFIDENTIALITY

I understand that any client information which is disclosed to me while I am a student fulfilling internship requirements in any of the various internship sites is confidential and is protected by HIPAA. I will respect clients’ confidentiality and not discuss specific clients and/or conditions with others who have no professional need for the information.

Any breach of confidentiality in violation of the HIPAA covered entity’s policies, professional standards, or state and federal laws and regulations governing protected health information, may result in applicable sanctions and/or university disciplinary action against the responsible student.

By signing below, I certify that I have received and reviewed information concerning the HIPAA Privacy Regulations and that I will abide by HIPAA covered entity’s policies and procedures to ensure appropriate confidentiality and security of the health information that I encounter to perform student functions.
