FACULTY WORKLOADS AND EVALUATION

IPFW shall practice the following policy on faculty workloads and evaluation:

WORKLOADS
1. The standard faculty workload at IPFW is twelve semester credit hours. At the time of their initial appointment, unless otherwise provided in writing, tenure-track faculty with the rank of instructor will teach the equivalent of four lecture courses each semester, and tenure-track faculty with the rank of assistant professor or above will teach the equivalent of three lecture courses each semester and will receive the equivalent of one lecture course of released time for research.*

2. Either after the award of tenure and promotion, or at least five years after the award of tenure, faculty at the rank of Assistant Professor or above may choose one of the following:
   a) The equivalent* of three (3) lecture courses each semester and execution of a research program.
   b) The equivalent* of four (4) lecture courses each semester.

3. Other adjustments in the workload of individual faculty may be made from time to time after consultation between the department chair and the faculty member and with the approval of other appropriate administrators. Overload teaching with or without pay, extraordinary service assignments within or outside the university, student advising beyond what is normal or expected, or research which places great demands upon the faculty member are examples of conditions which may justify such adjustments.

4. Faculty may change their workload as described in 2. above by notifying chairs and deans before the next semester's schedule is finalized. Faculty may initiate discussions with the department chair regarding the adjustments described in 3. above at any time, but adjustments approved shall not be implemented until this can be done without serious inconvenience to the department. Faculty not yet eligible to make these choices shall continue to be responsible for their current workload.

EVALUATION

Annual evaluation criteria for faculty with the research reduction shall include the expectation of teaching and service effectiveness as well as demonstrable pursuit of an active research program. Teaching, service and progress in research shall be reflected in annual evaluation commentary and salary increments. Criteria for teaching, research and service effectiveness shall be defined and established by departments in consultation with deans. These department statements criteria shall be written and copies shall be available to all faculty in the department. Statements Criteria shall be filed with OAA for information and evaluation shall be based on those statements criteria. Other expectations for faculty shall be clearly articulated so that 1) faculty know what is expected of them and how evaluation will take place and 2) others involved in evaluation understand the process and their roles in it.

Annual evaluation criteria for faculty without the research reduction shall include the expectation of teaching and service effectiveness but not pursuit of an active research program. Teaching and service effectiveness shall be defined and evaluated as described above. Department chairs and/or department committees will evaluate the service contribution of faculty as defined in appropriate university documents, except that faculty with time excused from teaching and research for service will be evaluated on the basis of their assigned service activities.

In accordance with other university documents where evaluation of teaching, research, and service is described, faculty shall, for promotion, be expected to show appropriate performance in all areas. This document shall not be interpreted as changing criteria for promotion and tenure, nor as affecting the expectation that all faculty will maintain currency in their respective fields. Nothing in this document precludes the promotion of any faculty member to associate or full professor.

Each faculty member shall be treated equitably regarding salary and annual increments. Increments should be based upon the relative value of the professional activity to the department's program and the quality of the individual's performance of assigned professional responsibilities. Promotions, leaves and/or sabbaticals shall not prevent an individual from receiving merit consideration for work accomplished during a review period.

REVIEW
This policy shall be reviewed as necessary or upon request from the administration or the Senate.

*Equivalencies shall be defined by each department in consultation with the appropriate dean and consistent with university policy. Research is understood to mean all forms of scholarly activity and creative endeavor, including pedagogical and applied research.

In schools without departments, these statements criteria would be school statements criteria.

RE: SD 10-06 report of FAC

1. As a result of SD 10-06 the committee has started the process by issuing a call to the Faculty for identifying concerns associated with (i) P&T process; (ii) Review and reappointment; (iii) Option 1/Option 2. The initial deadline was set for March 1; however, we have received calls from various entities, such as FACET, CELT, as well as faculty to extend the deadline, so these groups can meet, discuss and summarize their concerns/suggestions. Therefore, Faculty Affairs Committee would like to extend the original deadline to April 1.

2. Following its deliberations of the Option 1/Option 2 issue, FAC has suggested an amendment to SD 97-08 (see attached). It addresses some minor internal inconsistencies, as well as a concern that faculty in Departments with established criteria of research, teaching, and service effectiveness and faculty in Department without such criteria are being treated unfairly across Schools, Departments, and Programs.

3. FAC has started deliberations of the review and reappointment process. The Third Year Review process is relatively new, and there is a clear move by Departments to establish/align their criteria and/or procedures for this process. Currently, FAC is discussing the issue of reappointment and the extent of faculty input in the process.

4. Various aspects of the most important issue, the P&T procedures/criteria at IPFW, have been on the agenda of the Faculty Affairs Committee since the start of Fall 2008 (initially brought about by Nash Younis). In Spring of 2009 VCAA and FAC drafted a two-step process similar to the Campus P&T election/selection procedure to create a special body to study and address concerns with P&T procedures/criteria. Schools had to elect representatives willing to serve on this body, and the VCAA in consultation with the Faculty Affairs Committee had to appoint some of these representatives. The process was brought to a halt by the Executive Committee. It examined the P&T documents during 2009-2010 academic year and suggested some revisions, the major one being with the deadline of inclusion of any documents in P&T case. http://new.ipfw.edu/dotAsset/216320.pdf

Continuing the process, the Executive Committee put forward SD 10-06 that expanded the charge to FAC. Simultaneously, the Re-imagining initiative focused the attention of the Faculty to the issue of P&T procedures/criteria, and any concerns raised on the Re-imagining blog were included by FAC. There has been extensive communication between the Executive Committee, FAC, and the Senate leadership. Both Speakers have attended a FAC meeting this semester. The task force that studied OAA memoranda pertaining to P&T, review and reappointment, Option 1/Option 2 has relayed their report to FAC. COAS Executive Committee has related their concerns and suggestions

As a result, the Faculty Affairs Committee intends to summarize concerns or suggestions that resulted from its call and draft a plan of action for next year. We anticipate that the process of studying P&T procedures/criteria will be very thorough and thoughtful and may take a good portion of next year. We note that there are more than the usual number of vacancies on this committee this year and appeal to the Senate membership to consider running for this important committee.
