Dean of Students Diplomats

The Dean of Students Diplomats program, or Dean’s Diplomats for short, is comprised of a volunteer group of student leaders. The program promotes personal responsibility and educate our IPFW community by creating and facilitating presentations for students, faculty and staff. Diplomats are required to do at least two presentations per semester.

Topics include:

- Academic integrity,
- Overview of the services available to students
- Responding to sexual assault
- Conflict resolution
- Student rights, responsibilities and conduct.

As emissaries for the office of Student Affairs, diplomats are student leaders, educators and an example for other students. A diplomat must have, and maintain, a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher and must comply with, and understand, the rules and regulations of the university. The ability to effectively lead, work with, and serve others are invaluable skills to learn and practice. All skills developed throughout this experience are meant to be carried on with them beyond graduation and throughout their career.
