Those who give to the university are every bit as diverse as the opportunities they create. Donations both large and small redefine what is possible for our students and enable investments in the IPFW mission. We are humbled not only by the number of IPFW supporters, but by the countless reasons they choose to give.

Whose Giving Is Changing

Donors are more diverse than ever, with more alumni, corporations, and other organizations contributing. Foundations continue to be a strong partner, supporting initiatives and programs in a variety of ways.

Giving to What

Student support is the largest category of giving. Programs and projects are second, followed by facilities. Unrestricted gifts continue to be a good portion of total giving.

Gifts Funded

Endowments, scholarships, and unrestricted gifts are all funded through giving. In particular, scholarships are a large source of funding, with 59% of gifts supporting them.

Every Gift Counts

Individual gifts of $1–$100 make up the largest funding category, totaling $82,160. Scholarships also are a significant source of funding, totaling $5,881,825.

Financial Information
