Background Summary.

In 1978, amendments to the Age Discrimination in Employment Act were passed by Congress raising the Mandatory Retirement Age of most employees to 70, but for tenured employees of colleges and universities this was not effective until 1 July 1982. Moreover, a Department of Labor interpretation provides that an employer may adopt a Normal Retirement Age lower than the mandatory one and may elect not to contribute to a retirement fund for employees over the Normal Retirement Age.

Although the Mandatory Retirement Age of tenured Purdue employees is 70, Purdue University (Executive Memorandum No. B-58, 19 December 1978) has set 65 as the Normal Retirement Age, and hence the University's contributions to TIAA-CREF cease when an employee reaches that age. The Normal and Mandatory Retirement Ages at IU are age 70.
